

MEDIA RELEASE

4th July 2011

The National Trust of New South Wales welcomes parents and guardians in the western plains region to take advantage of the opening of Dundullimal Homestead for the school holidays.

From today, Monday the 4th of July, the house will run activities including face painting, blacksmith displays and craft to keep children occupied and engaged with Australia's history.

Dundullimal Property and Venue Manager Catherine Basford said that the school holidays program provided a family friendly environment matched with a healthy dose of history.

"We look forward to seeing local families enjoy the experience the National Trust of New South Wales provides and taking advantage of interactive activities and displays here at Dundullimal" she said.

WHEN: 4th of July until Saturday the 16th of July, 2011

TIME: From 10am until 4pm

WHERE: Dundullimal Homestead

23L Obley Road

Dubbo

COST:

$8 General Admission

$6.50 Concession

$4.00 Children

$20 family

FREE for trust members

TO BOOK: Phone (02) 6884 9984. Tickets may also be purchased at the gate.

For all media enquiries phone Amelia Frelander on: (02) 9258 0123 or 0402 623 462. Photos available on request.