

BOB DEBUS

Bob Debus was appointed Minister for Corrective Services in the New South Wales Government in April 1995. He retained the portfolio until January 2001 and is therefore the longest serving Minister for Corrective Services in the past 30 years. He is credited with substantially improving the industrial and institutional climate within the prison system and in consequence with "taking prisons off the front page of newspapers."

As Minister for Emergency Services from April 1995 until December 1997 and from April 1998 to April 2003, Bob Debus is the longest serving Minister for Emergency Services in the State's history. He exercised a significant leadership role during the major bushfire emergencies of 2001/2002 and 2002/2003. During his tenure, the Government completed the most significant expansion of the State's emergency services ever.

Bob Debus was appointed Minister for the Environment in April 1999. He is the longest serving Environment Minister in the State's history and still holds the portfolio.

Holding the Environment and Arts portfolios he is responsible for the effective operation of the major cultural and scientific institutions of the State: The Opera House, the Library of New South Wales, Taronga and Western Plains Zoos, the Royal Botanic Gardens, the Australian Museum, the Art Gallery of NSW, the Powerhouse Museum, the Historic Houses Trust and the Film and Television Office.

Bob Debus was appointed Attorney General in the New South Wales Government in June 2000. He is the longest serving Attorney General in the past 25 years and still holds the portfolio.
