EXCLUSIVE ADVANCE PREVIEW SCREENING

ballets russes

Breathlessly canvassing the six-decade history of the various companies that danced under the Ballet Russe moniker, Dayna Goldfine and Dan Geller's expertly crafted, years-in-the-making documentary takes viewers on an ebullient odyssey from Russia to Australia to whistle-stop America, populated by a cast of charismatic, eternally young-at-heart ballet veterans. An electrifying film that lovingly and authoritatively brings to life an era of unequalled artistic excitement. It's spun out like a historical thriller, laying bare the politics, rivalries, tremendous egos and creative appetites that ultimately produced two warring troupes devoted to their art with truly fanatical passion.
